

GoSpeech Enterprise

Automatic speech recognition
for the police

What is GoSpeech?

After an interrogation, you face the challenging task of transcribing the content quickly and accurately to create your official transcript. With GoSpeech, this task has never been easier! Our advanced transcription software accurately converts audio or video recordings of interrogations, interviews, wiretaps or seized voice messages into text. Using the latest artificial intelligence, different speakers are reliably recognised and punctuation is automatically added. This enables your investigators and employees to process the text efficiently - whether for creating reports or creating a searchable archive.

Grundig Business Systems has been a leader in the field of voice recording and speech recognition for 70 years. We understand the special importance of flexibility, data protection and cost efficiency for police and investigative authorities. That's why we have developed GoSpeech Enterprise specifically for your requirements.
